

COME TO THE WEDDING
Brenda J. Robinson & Terry Helms
© 2000 New Desire Publishing/BMI

Verse 1:

Just over Jordan, a special time is near they're preparing for a wedding, the Bridegroom will soon appear, He's standing round the throne room, and He's dressed in royal style, awaiting for His Bride to escort her down the aisle.

Chorus:

Oh won't you come to the wedding, come one and all receive your invitation as your name the bridegroom calls only the Holy shall enter in, your name is in red through the Blood He has shed won't you come to the wedding.

Verse 2:

Just inside the gates of Glory, the wedding music plays the bridegroom's standing ready to call His church away, we've been given an invitation, the banquet's ready, come and dine we will sing a brand new chorus in the twinkling of an eye.

Repeat Chorus:

Tag:

Come on, let's go to the wedding come one and all your name is in red through the blood He has shed, won't you come to the wedding, come and dine.